Travel Alert: COVID-19

Security and Emergency Response Training Center, Pueblo, CO.

Updated: September 23, 2020

The safety, security, and well-being of students and staff members remains our number one priority for the Transportation Technology Center, Inc. (TTCI) and the Security & Emergency Response Training Center (SERTC).

TTCI/SERTC is one of seven members of the National Domestic Preparedness Consortium (NDPC) which is a professional alliance sponsored through the Department of Homeland Security/FEMA National Preparedness Directorate (NPD). The FEMA NPD consists of three training branches: The Center for Domestic Preparedness (CDP), the Emergency Management Institute (EMI), and the National Training and Education Division (NTED).

In July 2020, FEMA issued an advisory suspending in-person training and education. As a member of the NDPC, and per new advisement from FEMA, TTCI/SERTC has suspended delivery of all FEMA NTED-funded residential training courses through November 1, 2020.

To continue to support the training needs of First Responders, SERTC is excited to introduce SERTC Academy – our all new virtual training platform featuring the experienced SERTC instructors you know and trust delivering the latest hazmat education to the comfort of your home or station. For more information on our new livestreaming courses and future in-person training modules, visit www.sertc.org/academy.

Stay connected to www.sertc.org and social channels for future updates or contact us directly @ 719-584-0584 or via email at sertc@aar.com.